Gunmen holding hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Gunmen stormed a building housing several American and foreign banks today, seized up to 60 hostages, and threatened to kill them after a two-hour gunbattle in the heart of Beirut's financial district, police

The hostages, including foreigners, were trapped in the six story building, which houses the Bank of America, Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York, the Chemical Bank of New York, the Deutschebank of West Germany and the Lebanese Banque de l'Industrie et du

None of the hostages were identified. The gunmen called themselves members of the "Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Movement" and gave authorities a 6 p.m. local deadline - noon

EDT — to meet three demands: -The release of all Palestinian guerrillas imprisoned in Lebanon.

-A $10 million ransom from one or more of the besieged banks "to support the guerrilla movement and the Arab war effort against Israel.

-An airliner to fly them to Algeria or

A note thrown out of one of the bank's windows said, "We shall kill all the hostages if our demands are not met by this deadline.

A second note said, "We have wired the bank with enough explosives to blow it up completely, killing all the hostages as well as us. We shall set off the explosives at 1800 local time unless our demands are met.'

The building was surrounded by police and Lebanese army troops.

Police said five gunmen raided the bank and one was wounded and captured during a subsequent battle with automatic weapons and grenades. Three policemen and five passing civilians also were wounded in the two-hour gun battle that sent pedestrians diving for cover in the heart of Beirut's business district.

Police said the gunmen had released customers and women employes of the bank, but were holding between 20 and 25 Lebanese male bank employes. Informants said the European manager of the bank, tentatively identified as Christiaan Hollander, a Dutchman, escaped from the gunmen during the shootout.

The gunmen were negotiating with Lebanese Interior Minister Bahij Takieddin through Algerian Ambassador Mohammed Yazid and a Palestinian guerrilla leader identified as Tewfik Safadi.

The two intermediaries quoted the gunmen as saying it was "not a bank robbery but an operation against American interests, with the twin purpose of securing the release of our comrades in Lebanese jails.'

The captured gunman was identified as Amir Farroukh, 24, a Lebanese national.

An official police statement said "some bank employes also were wounded when the gunmen hurled a grenade inside the bank. The police forces still are encircling the gunmen who are holding some of the bank employes inside the building.

The bank siege began at 11:45 a.m., or 5:45 a.m. EDT.

Furious fighting along Suez Canal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egyptian and Israeli tanks clashed furiously today in the large and possibly decisive Suez Canal battle. Syria said its tanks knocked back an Israeli probe on the Golan Heights front.

Egypt said the Suez fighting centered around the central Bitter Lakes section of the canal and called on Israelis there to 'surrender or face complete destruction."

"The battles raging since Wednesday, in the middle sector, are the most ferocious of all since the war began," said Cairo radio. "But our troops will continue, according to plan, to achieve victory."

Israel said its jets were pounding Egyptian targets in support of the Sinai armored forces and claimed Israeli ground fire downed two Soviet-built MIG warplanes and two Egyptian helicopters.

The Egyptians claimed their air defenses shot down 12 Israeli planes and said four Israeli pilots were captured.

Intense diplomatic activity was reported under way to end the fighting. Unconfirmed reports circulated in Washington, Moscow and other world capitals that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was in Cairo heading a Soviet mission.

The New York Times reported in a dispatch quoting diplomats in the Egyptian capital that Moscow has begun highlevel efforts to bring about a settlement of the 13-day-old Middle East

But as the reported peace moves went on in secret, five Arabic-speaking gunmen stormed a building housing three American banks in Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

Police said they captured up to 60 hostages and threatened to kill them unless authorities provided a plane to carry them to Algeria or Yemen and released all Palestinian guerrillas held in Lebanese jails. The hostages included foreigners, but none were identified.

The gunmen, calling themselves the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Movement, also demanded a $10 million ransom "to support the guerrilla movement and the Arab war effort against Israel." But the established Palestinian guerrilla movement disavowed the raid.

The Middle East war also came home to noncombatant Beirut with offshore explosions that cut an undersea cable linking Lebanon and Europe. Military sources in Beirut said the five explosions were the work of Israeli frogmen but the Israeli radio quoted military spokesmen as denying the charge.

Israel claimed it destroyed 90 to 100 Egyptian tanks in the crucial Sinai battle Wednesday along the Suez Canal. Egypt said the Israelis "suffered heavy losses in tanks and armored cars."

"In the next day or so, we should be able to tell if this is the decisive battle," said an American official in Washington.

"It looks as if it will come to a head soon," said Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, former Israeli army intelligence chief and now top war commentator for the Israeli state radio.

The Israeli drive into Syria remained bogged down about 21 miles from Damascus and the Syrians claimed they knocked out seven Israeli tanks just after dawn "when our forces repelled an enemy attack on one of our forward posi-

The Middle East war also entered finance with an announcement by Arab oil countries in Kuwait on Wednesday that they will cut their production by 5 per cent a month and increase the cut by 5 per cent a month as long as Israel holds onto Arab lands seized in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Their hope is that their West European and Japanese customers - who will feel the squeeze first and hardest - will pressure the United States into ending its shipments of war supplies to Israel.

There was intense diplomatic activity in Washington, the United Nations and other capitals aimed at ending the fighting. But no sign of progress was apparent.

Israel said its forces fought all day Wednesday in Sinai to "contain Egyptian counterattacks." Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog,

It was the second day on which the Israelis had claimed destruction of a large Arab tank force. On Tuesday they reported knocking out of 105 Syrian and Iraqi tanks, while Syria that day claimed its forces destroyed 80 Israeli tanks.

Elazar said Israeli forces were "initiating the attacks on both sides" of the canal. An Israeli spokesman said the commando task force that crossed the canal Tuesday was still in Egypt, continuing to sabotage missiles and artillery. But an Egyptian general said the force had been destroyed.

Israel said its air force bombed military installations near Port Said, the Egyptian city at the northern end of the canal, and antiaircraft missile batteries. It said 10 Egyptian planes were shot down. Egypt claimed that its air force shot down four Israeli planes in one dogfight while ground fire downed 12 Israeli planes and five

'Little' immediate oil cutback effect

BULLETIN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - King Faisal of Saudi Arabia ordered a 10 per cent cutback in oil production effective today, the Saudi state radio announced.

A royal palace statement broadcast by Riyadh radio also threatened a total halt of Saudi oil shipments to the United States "unless the United States government modifies its current position in the Middle East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The proclaimed cutback in Arab oil production should have little immediate effect on U.S. supplies, an American energy expert says. But Western Europe and Japan, the Arabs' biggest customers, are expected to put pressure on the United States before long to reduce its support of Arab oil ministers at a meeting in Kuwait Wednesday announced they would cut production at least 5 per cent a month until Israel gives up all territory it seized in the 1967 war and restores the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

Because the United States gets only about 6 per cent of the oil it uses from the Arab countries, the Arabs strategy was to squeeze the Europeans and Japanese in the hope that they in turn would put the screws on Washington, Israel's chief source of

A 5 per cent cut in U.S. imports from the Arab countries would reduce the total supply in the United States only threetenths of one per cent, the U.S. expert said in Washington. But he estimated the action would reduce Western Europe's supplies by 3 per cent and Japan's by 2 per cent.

The Nixon Administration is counting on imports of refined heating oil from Europe to meet the shortage expected this winter, and a reduced supply of crude to Europe would make refined products harder to get.

Since production is being cut back rather than exports, the effects of the decision may not be relt for several weeks. And the volume of production will decline very slowly if the reductions continue, since each month's cut will be 5 per cent of the previous month's production. But oil experts in Beirut predicted a major world oil crisis if the cuts continued for as long as four months.

One London oil analyst called the cutback "an extremely astute scheme.... It will make everyone suffer a little and put considerable pressure on Western countries to force Israel to come to an agrement with the Arabs.

Japan, dependent on the Middle East for 80.7 per cent of its petroleum imports, hoped its neutral policy in the Arab-Israeli conflict might exempt it from the cutback. But the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry acknowledged today that the Arab producers may hit it, too, in hopes that Tokyo will put pressure on the United States.

Nixon administration afraid of ending wage-price controls

By BILL NEIKIRK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Nixon administration is disenchanted with wage-price controls but is afraid of getting rid of them now

That seemingly contradictory statement sums up the quandary in which the administration finds itself. It is trying to solve the predicament by gradual withdrawal.

'If the controls were dropped immediately, you would have widespread price increases. said Edgar Fiedler, the Treasury Department's chief economist. "That would only generate demands for more controls.

"It seems that we can't live with controls but we can't live without them, either," said an economist at the Cost of Living

Ask almost any administration economic official and he will say that wage-price controls have not done much to restrain inflation and never will. At a recent meeting of the Business Council, an organization of executives from the nation's 150 biggest corporations. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz was hounded with questions on when controls would end.

DEAR POLLY — Do tell Mrs. B.H. the way I protect newspaper articles. I peel the back off a sheet of transparent plastic that is large enough to completely cover the front and back of the clipping and cover so no air can get to the paper. This extends the life of the article about 10 years. - MIKE.

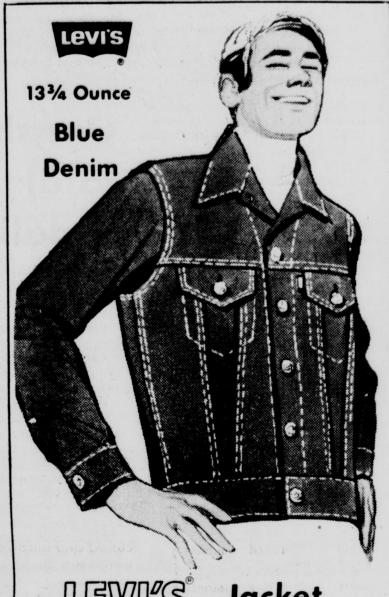

DEAR POLLY - To keep newspaper articles from turning vellow I insert the article between two pieces of clear contact paper and leave about one-half inch beyond the edges on all sides and in this way it is preserved. - MRS. J.

DEAR POLLY — When sewing I often have the need for four matching buttons and can find only three. Actually I often later discover that I had four but did not know it because they were not all together. Now I have "filed" my loose buttons and find this a time and money saver. I use egg cartons and the plastic ones are so pretty. White cartons are used for white buttons and colored ones for colored cuttons. The little grooved egg cups are just great for holding sets of buttons and, if the cartons are handled with the same care as when filled with eggs, the buttons do not spill out. -

Gunshot fatal to Sedalian

Robert Bob Anderson, 69, 232 South Harrison, was found dead in his front yard at 12:21 p.m. Wednesday, the apparent victim of suicide

Police reported that Anderson was found lying next to his car with a double barrel 16gauge shotgun under his body. The gun contained one empty shell, police said. He suffered a wound on the left side of the chest, it was learned.

When police discovered that Anderson was not breathing and had no pulse, an ambulance was called to the scene. Upon closer scrutiny, police found the shotgun with a note attached to the barrels with rubber bands. The note requested that a local funeral home and his sister in Boonville be called, police reported.

Mrs. Donald Bergman, a neighbor, told police that about an hour before police found the body, she heard one shot.

Neighbors told police that Anderson had been threatening suicide for the past three or four weeks and that at one time they were able to talk him out of it. A member of the family indicated Anderson had been. despondent in recent weeks.

The baby's mother, Karen Jones, 16, was murdered Aug. 13 in her east Sedalia apartment. The baby presently is in the custody of Pat Wagner, 617 East 17th. Wagner is the maternal grandfather.

In the statement, Mrs. Young said that Ron Jones, 19, the baby's father, has 'failed, neglected and avoided assuming parental position" and has failed to provide care or support for the child. Mrs. Young also told the court that she had taken care of the child from birth until the death of Karen Jones. She said she provided for accommodations such as a baby bed, clothing and other essentials.

Mrs. Young told the court she is accustomed to caring for the child and said she is the proper person to have temporary custody of the child. At the time of Mrs. Jones' death, the baby was staying with the Wagners, and Jones was separated from his wife. Kim Eugene Phillips, 21, a former

Expect federal funds for

Law enforcement agencies in Pettis. Johnson and Lafayette Counties will receive $150,898 in federal money next year for law enforcement and judicial programs. Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said

This represents an $86,000 increase over funds received by the three-county region previously, but about $41,000 less than was originally anticipated by members of the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission. Fairfax said the allotment was approved Wednesday at a meeting of the State Law Enforcement Assistance Council in Jefferson City. Fairfax is a member of the state council.

Local representatives on the Region B Show-Me Law Enforcement Assistance Council, which consists of the three counties, now must meet to decide how the money will be spent. Fairfax said.

Earlier this year each law enforcement agency submitted its program request for the federal funds. The requests totaled $210,092. Fairfax explained that a priority list must be established within the region due to the fact that the actual allotment is $60,000 less than the amount requested.

Fairfax said he was "very happy to see the increase" in funding. He said two years ago the three county-area only received $25,000 in federal funds

Man is jailed after attacking police officer

A disturbance Wednesday afternoon resulted in the arrest of a Sedalia man after he allegedly assaulted a police officer with his fists while the officer was still in his patrol car

Officer Lloyd Simons was sent to the 1800 block of East Fifth shortly before 12:30 p.m. Wednesday to investigate a report of a disturbance. According to the police, when he arrived a man identified as George Taber, 36, 1809 East Fifth, was walking around the outside of his house. When he saw the police car pull up he approached the vehicle and reportedly attacked Simons.

F. H. Rush, owner of Sedalia Ambulance Co., was at the scene when Simons arrived. Rush told The Democrat-Capital that Taber's wife had called and requested an ambulance. He said that when he arrived at the address, he found that Taber was "tearing up the house" and he advised Mrs. Taber to call the police. When Rush saw Taber attack Simons, he said he pulled Taber away from the car until Simons could get out. Once out of the car. Simons reported that he was forced to subdue Taber and handcuff him.

Taber was reportedly bleeding from both wrists, apparently as the results of knocking out several windows in the house. He was taken in the ambulance to Bothwell Hospital where he was treated for the cuts on his wrists and a small laceration on his forehead and then released to police.

Taber was being held in city jail as of late Thursday morning. He is to appear in Municipal Court Friday morning on a charge of assaulting a police officer.

In other police news, a thief made a slim haul Wednesday night after breaking into the Stucco Inn. 109 South Grand

According to police, officers on routine patrol observed a person running from the building. The man reportedly ran north to Main Street and then northeast across the tracks, where the officer lost him.

A check of the building revealed that a juke box and a cigarette machine had been broken into, but the thief only obtained about $2 from the machines, according to Joseph Stout, owner of the business.

A portable TV had been removed from the building but was found outside, as were three six-packs of beer

Entry to the building was apparently gained by breaking a hasp on the front

that our efforts will be, without question, a product a compromise." he said.

The federal monies appropriated for urban transportation and mass transit development will be available to all cities over 5,000 population, Thompson said. During the final two years of the current appropriation, he later indicated, more of this money will be allocated to the purchase of buses in addition to construction projects and other endeavors. This option, he emphasized, will belong to individual governing units and not to Federal bodies

Traffic safety measures are also receiving more attention from federal highway authorities and legislators, Thompson said. Citing the fact that 56,000 Americans were killed, and 4 million injured, in traffic accidents during the past year, Thompson described the situation 'as a grim reality Congress has had to face

He then outlined recently-authorized federal traffic safety programs which he said would "provide a cornerstone of lasting good results." The program, he said, involves cooperating with state governments to provide warning lights at all railroad crossings; eliminating all 'specific location' highway hazards, such as unusually sharp curves; replacing all existing roadside light poles with breakaway support poles to reduce injuries; and reconstructing or replacing deficient

These programs, Thompson explained, will be financed by state and federal funds. Upcoming activities highlighting the remainder of the two-day meeting will be a banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday featuring Gilbert M. Schuster, president of the American Public Works Association.

The approved budget allocation plan for the entire state, which was recently drawn up by Fairfax on a population basis. explains why a larger share of the federal monies is being channeled to rural areas.

In the first years of the federal program more of the money was being allocated to urban areas. The program was begun in 1968, Fairfax said

After each regional council determines which projects will receive federal funds. the state council will submit a state-wide plan to the federal government for approval, Fairfax said.

The Sedalia police department, the Pettis County sheriff's department and the juvenile office for the 18th Judicial Circuit (Pettis and Cooper Counties) have submitted fund requests with the Region 13 Council.

The police department is seeking $12,825. to be used toward hiring three additional policemen and $2,700 for equipment

The sheriff's department submitted a request of $12,000 to be used in hiring an additional field deputy and assistant transportation officer, and for office equipment A total of $4,069 was requested by the juvenile officer toward salary and travel expenses of a deputy juvenile officer.

A decrease in federal funding was partially responsible for the reduction of the amount of anticipated funding. Fairfax also said the previous amount anticipated by the regional planning commission was only a preliminary estimate.

Decisive point of battle near

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 13-day-old Arab-Israeli war may be approaching its decisive point in the great tank battle churning the sands of the Sinai Desert near the Suez Canal

That is the judgment of Pentagon analysts studying reports from U.S. military attaches and U.S. diplomatic representatives in Israel and Egypt "In the next day or so, we should be able to tell if this is the decisive battle," said one official who obviously hopes for an early end to the fighting on both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts.

U.S. military authorities said the Israelis had the initiative in developing the Sinai A key question in the minds of U.S.

officials is whether the Israelis and

Egyptians will choose to fight until one side is clearly defeated, or whether they would accept a settlement allowing both to claim a measure of victory. As these officials view the overall situation, Israeli gains in Syria and the course of the fighting in the Sinai so far have produced the makings of a possible long-term settlement, "if reason prevails." Although the Syrian army still is in action, the Israelis have hurt it badly and have advanced well beyond the 1967 cease-fire line they held before fighting broke out

"The Israelis may have an acceptable situation there," said a Pentagon strategist. "They have the basis to negotiate a pullback to the ceasefire line in return for security assurances.'

By implication, the Syrians are in such a poor situation militarily that they would have to accept the best deal they could get. On the other front, U.S. officials say that both Egypt and Israel might be able to claim victory if the Egyptians kept even a narrow foothold on the Sinai bank of the

According to this scenario the Egyptians could say they had won back part of the Sinai and perhaps could reopen the Suez Canal, while the Israelis could say they had held Egypt to territorial gains and they might be able to press for access to the canal for shipping.

Although the United States is replacing Israel's battle losses in planes, tanks and other equipment, defense authorities acknowledge they are uncertain of Israel's war aims.

However, they say there are signs that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat may have had only limited objectives in sending his army across the canal in an attack coordinated with that of the Syrians.

The continued withholding of a significant part of the Egyptian air force from the battle is viewed as one such Another significant indicator is the reported construction by Egyptian forces of a line of fortifications in the strip to Sinai land they have taken from Israel, defense sources said. U.S. intelligence specialists say this suggests that Egypt hopes to consolidate its foothold on the East bank of the Suez Canal rather than to try to retake more of the Sinai, which was lost to Israel more than six years ago.

Some U.S. military men feel the Egyptians could be inviting disaster if they went to a static defense.

American officers recall that mobile Israeli tank and infantry burst through a fixed Egyptian line in the 1967 war and destroyed Cairo's forces in the Sinai. Israel's strategy has been to concentrate on neutralizing Syrai's army and air force before throwing its main strength at the When the war opened, about 75 per cent of Israel's air force and much of its armor and artillery were hurled at the Syrians, who had scored early breakthroughs threatening Israeli settlements. The Egyptians were about 150 miles away across the Sinai desert from Israel proper and the Israeli command chose a holding strategy against them for the time being.

business, it was reported

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon had his first favorable decision today in his legal battle to withhold the White House tapes from the Senate Watergate committee and the special Watergate

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica threw out Wednesday the Senate committee's request for a civil judgment affirming its right to demand the tapes from the President.

In his ruling, Sirica said the committee had failed to obtain authorization for suing the President. He said he was not making any judgment on the legal merits of the committee's case.

A committee spokesman said the decision probably would be appealed.

But Nixon still faces the formidable challenge of special prosecutor Archibald Cox's effort to obtain nine presidential tapes for the federal grand jury investigation of the Watergate break-in and

In that case, Sirica ordered the President to give him the nine tapes Cox had subpoenaed. The judge said that only if he listened to the tapes could he determine if the President had a valid claim for keeping

Last Friday, the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld Sirica's ruling.

The President has until Friday to take his appeal to the Supreme Court, a move he is regarded as virtually certain to make. The committee subpoenaed five tapes last July 23, the same day Cox subpoenaed nine. Three days later the President notified both parties that he would not comply with their subpoenas. The President has contended that because the three branches of government are coequal and independent under the Constitution, neither a congressional committee nor a judge could force him to obey an order.

State to provide ambulance funds for communities

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Gov. Christopher S. Bond said today the state will provide $360,000 to communities to purchase ambulances and communications equipment for emergency medical Bond, in a speech before the Emergency Medical Services Task Force, said the funds will come from the health division's program improvement fund. Bond said the money is being made available in connection with a new ambulance regulation law passed this "The committment of funds is part of the state's effort to assist communities to provide the best possible health care services for their citizens and visitors,'

Bond said. To be eligible for either state or federal funds to purchase ambulances, a community must be able to raise $3,500 toward its purchase price of $10,000-$15,000, Bond said. State and federal funds will be used for the remainder of the cost. Bond said the division of health already has received 46 applications for financial assistance to buy ambulances, which exceeds the amount of federal funds available, "and the state is now committed to provide supplementary funds.'

Controversy over parade cleanup

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Some downtown streets in Kansas City are likely to be a little messy Saturday morning.

Members of the State. County and Municipal Employes Union have voted not to clean up after the annual American Royal parade and its thousands of horses. Employes of the Parks and Recreation Department and the Public Works

Department are pressed into service for cleanup duties after the annual parade. Workers from the Parks and Recreation Department voted Wednesday night to refuse the assignment because they get only straight time, while the Public Works Department employes get time-and-a-half.

Union members from the Public Works Department said they also would decline to work in sympathy with the parks and recreation workers.

Robert Pounds, union business agent, said he hoped to settle the grievance today with the director of parks and recreation.

Says Americans have 'greatest food bargain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Mark Andrews, R-N. D., said Wednesday consumers should not gripe about high food prices because farmers have 'substantially subsidized" them for 40 years.

Settlement gives control of firms to Long's family

BOWLING GREEN, Mo. (AP) - A settlement in the dispute over the estate of the late Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., has given controlling interest in four firms to members of Long's immediate family.

An out-of-court settlement in had been the registered agent the dispute between Helen Dunlop, the senator's long-time secretary and companion, and members of Long's family was reached last month, but the agreement precluded any release of details.

Checks of court and official state records Tuesday, however, showed that four firms that had been controlled by Miss Dunlop are now in the hands of Florence Long. the senator's widow, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, his son-inlaw and daughter.

The court battles between Miss Dunlop and the Long family started a short time after Long died Nov. 6, when it was learned that he had written a new will leaving just $10 each to his wife and daughter. Ann

The bulk of the late senator's estate, estimated in worth at between $776,000 and $2.63 million, was left in a trust to his granddaughter. Elizabeth Miller. 6. She was to receive half the estate on her 20th birthday. and the remainder when she reached 30. Miss Dunlop was to be the trustee.

Mrs. Long and her daughter contested the will and several suits were filed. Mrs. Long charged her late husband's secretary with alienation of affections in a $3.25-million suit, and Miss Dunlop sought $750,000 in damages from Miller, accusing him of defaming her character.

As part of the settlement, the suits were dropped. And records in Pike County Probate Court show Miss Dunlop has resigned as trustee, thereby forfeiting the $7,500 a year fee she was to receive until the senator's granddaughter reached the age of 30.

Records also show that the three Long family members obtained stock control of the Canton State Bank of Canton, Mo .. which Miss Dunlop had controlled since the senator's death, and Miller was elected the bank's president last week.

Miller has also become president, and his wife the registered agent, of three other Long companies-Long Investment Co., Edward V. Long and Co., and the L.D.M. Co., which owns the Tower Loan building in Hannibal. Prior to the settlement. Miss Dunlop

Rebozo's Key Biscayne bank has no competition

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Nixon administration has rejected an application for a bank that would have competed with one run by Nixon's close friend. Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The office of the Comptroller of the Currency said Tuesday it turned down the charter application for a bank that would have competed with Rebozo's bank, the only one in Key Biscayne, Fla.

In doing so, it rejected the recommendation of a field examiner who had urged the competing application be approved. an official said.

The chairman of the House Banking Committee. Wright Patman. D-Tex., said he has written a letter to the Comptroller James E. Smith. asking for an explanation.

"The allegations are that Rebozo used his influence with the President to establish a monopolistic position in Key Biscayne." Patman said.

DeShazo said the action of the comptroller's office did not constitute overturning the field examiner's recommendation. "The final decision is up to the comptroller. We have many cases of differences of opinion on these matters." he said.

A member of the rival group said the decision "boils down to who's got the clout.

"His (Rebozo's) group had the power to use the most pressure." said Mortimer Fried. a Key Biscayne lawyer.

Rebozo is chairman, president and a substantial shareholder in Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co.

Mobile home transport regulation is approved

JEFFERSON CITY. Mo. (AP) — New regulations to permit transport of 14-foot wide mobile homes over most state roads has been approved by the Missouri Highway Commission.

Although Chief Highway Engineer Robert N. Hunter and his professional staff argued opher S. Bond. against it. the commission voted 4-2 at its September meeting to allow the wider loads. No public announcement was made of the commission action

A bill to accomplish the same thing was withdrawn in the 1971 legislative session after opposition was voiced by safety

The regulations will be for a one-year trial period. They allow movement between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on 12-foot lanes, and provide for stopping of traffic at bridges where the lanes are less than 14 feet. Movement is also allowed on sections of road with 11-foot lanes. Speeds of 55 miles an hour will be allowed on divided roads, with a 40-mile limit on other roads

Voting for the new regulations were: Jack Curtis of Springfield, commission chairman; Roger R. Linsin of St. Louis: Daniel Duncan of St. Joseph, and Lynn Bauer of Kansas City. Curtis and Duncan are appointees of Gov. Christ-

Voting against were Albert C. Riley of New Madrid and William R. Logan of Silex.

Bond said he has not taken a position on the matter, that it should be handled by the Highway Commission and its staff.

A spokesman for the Highway Department said Wednesday one argument used by commission members voting in favor of the new regulations is that the mobile home industry was interested in locating manufacturing plants in Missouri. except for the restrictions on moving 14-foot wide vehicles.

"The next thing the industry will want is 16-foot wides." Hunter said. His staff recommended against the new regulations, citing "hazards and operatonal difficulties." The previous regulations restricted the width of mobile homes moved on state roads to 12 feet. 4

The commission staff says most states west of the Mississippi River allow the wider vehicles, but the roads in those states are wider. The staff said most states east of the Mississippi do not allow them. mainly because of older and narrower roads, such as those in Missouri.

Promises aid success of women's cosmetics

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Women's cosmetics and fragrances have succeeded over the centuries not only for what they do, if anything, but because of their allure and ambiance and the hope, the suggestion, the promise they offer.

Their advertising reflects this, much of it being based on the implicit benefits of pleasing men, catching and keeping men, maintaining or achieving social acceptability, and attaining personal well-being.

And, said a practicing psychologist and researcher this week, that puts cosmetic advertisers on the most-wanted list of the Federal Trade Commission, which has taken the position that ad claims must be documented.

But how do you document a fragrance ad that states simply. "And suddenly nothing is the same," or a facial cream ad that it contains the promise of "smoothing away the years?"

The FTC doesn't even have a most-wanted list, of course, and it hasn't indicated any unusual interest in cosmetics. But Dr.

Joseph Smith told a meeting of cosmetics people that if the FTC were to act. cosmetics would be caught in a gooey sit-

The department alleged the firm mishandled customer accounts in July 1971, and said the firm and two of its officers wilfully made materially false statements" in a report filed with the department's Commodity Exchange Authority.

Named with the firm Wednesday were A. Vincent Blackford. president. and Dwight R. Williams, secretary-treasurer.

(Would Percy Shelley by chance have dreamed that these words, somewhat edited from his poem. "A Hymn To Intellectual Beauty." would ever be so used?)

Said Smith, who has often knocked and joined heads with the FTC:

The FTC doesn't have to prove the ads false, said Smith. Instead, the advertiser must be able to demonstrate and document their truthfulness.

This might be a cut-and-dried matter with tires, but when the ad says, as does a fragrance ad now circulating. "And suddenly nothing is the same." you've got problems.

When a cosmetics ad shows a svelte society matron in a touched-up full-page portrait. does it suggest to the reader that she can be the same if she uses the product? Is it implied?

The commission's mandate is to prevent misleading ads rather than to prevent women from buying products. Its goal is to prevent the use of deception to obtain an advantage over competition and the customer.

In previous cases, however, it has asked for material proof. scientific evidence and the like. But what of the intangibles? If a woman believes the product helps, isn't that evidence of value? And if she believes, maybe the dream will come true no? And doesn't the ad make the dream believable?

Smith told the cosmetics people that the readers of cosmetics ads take their message from: 1. The overt communication; 2. The implicit and symbolic carriers of meaning. their situations, dress, the colors used, the music; 3. The perceptive set the reader or viewer has - that is, knowledge and attitudes.

It means, he said, that advertisers must learn themselves just what their ads are saying, "not what you want them to say and not what you think they're saying, but what they are saying.

And next, he suggested, cosmetic advertisers must convince the pragmatists of the regulatory agencies that not all important values are material," that benefits cannot be measured only in graduated beakers, but also reside in feelings and emotions.

Firm says acceptable SST plans developed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) -McDonnell-Douglas engineers say new technology has made it possible to build a supersonic transport plane that would meet federal environmental requirements.

Even so, a spokesman said. Wednesday it would take an intensive development program to produce a commercially suitable aircraft. If development began in 1975, he said, the airplane could be ready to fly by McDonnell explained it had no immediate plans to build the SST, but said its conclusions were based on a recently completed study.

The controlling factor in design of the plane would be environmental considerations the engineers said.

McDonnell-Douglas said its concept of the plane calls for a 300-foot-long airliner with room for 270 passengers. Spokesmen said it would be bigger, faster and more efficient than the British-French Concorde SST.

In order to meet federal noise standards, they said, sound suppressors would have to be developed and these will reduce engine thrust. To overcome the loss of thrust, oversized engines would have to be installed so that the airplane could muster enough power for takeoff.

Boy charged in shooting free on bond

AVA. Mo. (AP) - A 16-yearold Ava boy charged with murdering his former stepfather and the man's mother is free on $20,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing. tentatively set for Nov. 15.

Douglas County Magistrate Gladys Stewart ruled Wednesday that William Timothy Holt must face the state's charges of first degree murder as an adult.

The highway patrol said Holt was arrested after Carl Emory Lawson, 41, and his mother. Mrs. Nona Lawson, 68, were gunned down as they approached a mobile home south of here owned by Lawson's former wife. Mrs. Dorothy Lawson. The shooting occurred Oct.

In line with a decision issued the week before in a battle concerning Lawson's visitation rights with his four young children. Lawson and his mother were meeting a caseworker from the county welfare office at the home so they could take the children for the weekend.

K.C. bank president's trial set

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Alexander J. Barket, president of a Kansas City bank who is charged with making an illegal campaign contribution, is scheduled to go on trial Nov.

Barket pleaded innocent Wednesday to the charge, listed in an indictment by a federal grand jury last week. A separate plea of innocent was entered for the Civic Plaza National Bank, which Barket heads.

The grand jury charged Barket misapplied $9.000 of the bank's money and made a false entry in the bank records showing it was a bonus for Rudolph E. Zatezalo, former executive vice president of the bank.

Zatezalo deducted $1.500 from the misappropriated funds for an income tax payment and contributed the remainder to the 1968 presidential campaign of Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the indictment said.

Ford denies allegation

WASHINGTON (AP) - Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the story published in a Washington lobbyist's book that he underwent psychiatric treatment for a year is a "categorical inaccuracy.

The psychiatrist agrees. claiming the story is "sheer fantasy.

But Ford confirmed another story Tuesday: that he helped Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy get a Treasury job as a political favor to a GOP congressional candidate.

The claim that Ford got psychiatric treatment for a year from Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker in New York City was made by free-lance lobbyist Robert N. Winter-Berger in his book "The Washington Pay-Off.

The House Republican leader told newsmen he went to Hutschnecker only once for about 15 minutes to meet him, not get treatment. at Winter-Berger's insistence.

'He (Winter-Berger) extolled Hutschnecker's virtues as an eminent doctor and said I should meet him." Ford said. Hutschnecker backed Ford's account

Two kinds of pancreatitis

In just four days we recently lost a dear member of our family to an illness diagnosed as pancreatitis. I need to know what causes this sudden disease, its symptoms, proper treatment and whether or not it is usually fatal.

Dear Reader — At the outset let me say that there is a difference between acute sudden pancreatitis and chronic pancreatitis. The outlook in the chronic form is somewhat become poor if underlying problems are not corrected. such as a gall stone blocking the duct from the pancreas or failure to correct an underlying alcohol problem.

Acute pancreatitis is sudden inflammation of the pancreas. the organ lying underneath and behind the stomach at the upper left part of the abdomen. The picture varies a great deal. In general there is obstruction of the drainage of normally produced pancreatic juice into the small intestine. Shortage of fertilizer is noted By JOE KELL

Democrat-Capital Staff Writer Local fertilizer dealers, while disagreeing about the severity of the problem, all agree that there is indeed a fertilizer shortage, and that it will probably get worse before it gets better.

Sam A. Young, manager of the MFA Exchange Division. said. "As we go on through the months we will find there is a greater shortage than we have ever known.

Young added that deliveries on his fertilizer orders were taking anywhere from 60 to 90 days, while normally they would take only 30 days.

Joe A. Hackman, manager at A-G Co-op Services, Inc., agreed, saying, "As far as the shortage is concerned, as of the moment we are alright, but we are going to get short. Probably this spring there will be guys without any fertilizer, the way it

Some fertilizer dealers are being affected more than others, Gaylon Alfrey, manager of the Swift's Farm Center, said Swift's was in "fairly good shape on most products, except nitrates.

But one of the co-owners of T, & O Rock Phosphate Co., an independent dealer, said as far as he was concerned the shortage was already here. "It is nearly impossible to get any nitrates at all. The companies don't give you any idea of when they can ship it to you." Gib V. Owen said.

All of the dealers agreed that there are two basic reasons for the nitrogen-based fertilizer shortage. For one, natural gas is used in the production of these fertilizers.

The natural gas is combined with water and oxygen to make the nitrates. With the present natural gas shortage, fertilizer producers are finding it hard to obtain enough natural gas to meet the demand for fertilizer.

In addition, several of the dealers see the exporting of fertilizer to foreign countries as one of the causes of the shortage.

"I'm satisfied that exports have something to do with the shortage." Alfrey said.

It seems that producers can get as much as $35 more per ton of fertilizer if they sell it abroad, because of the price controls the producers face in

For the most part the dealers were not willing to speculate on how much of an effect the shortage might have on yields next fall if there is a severe shortage this spring.
All of them did agree.

however, that yields would fall if farmer's weren't able to Alfrey said he thought crops such as corn, milo and wheat would be effected. "With a nitrogen shortage, you might see more soybeans planted. A lot of people don't put nitrogen on soybeans," Alfrey said.

The dealers were also hesitant to predict how or when the problem might be solved. Hackman said he didn't see any solution.

Young said that curbing exports might help the problem, or perhaps finding another way of producing fertilizer. But he was not opitmistic about either possibility. "A lot will depend on the dealer's relationship with his buyer," Alfrey said. He said dealers who are on friendly terms with their producers would stand a better chance of obtaining needed fertilizer.

Owen, who said he had been in the business 22 years, and was on good terms with his supplier, said he though more drastic measures were needed.

"The federal government must take the price freeze off and put an embargo on exports." Owen said.

Macon finalist in cities competition

NEW YORK (AP) - Macon Mo., is one of 18 communities which are finalists in the All-America cities action award comeptition sponsored by the National Municipal League.

The communities were judged on such civil accomplishments as better housing needs, environmental protection measures, broadened education opportunities, improved health and social services, revitalizing business and industry, and effectiveness of civic organizations

The finalist communities will send representatives to the league's national conference in Dallas Nov. 14-17, when final winners will be chosen.

SAVE $3 PER SQUARE YARD 180 ROLLS OF SOFT SILKY SHAG

LUXURY CARPET $ FOR ONLY!!!

WHY THIS LOW PRICE?

REASON NUMBER 1, this is the largest purchase we have ever made in our 20 years in business . . . We are excited and also a little frightened by the enormity of this purchase. We want to see it sell fast so we priced it down extra to sell faster . . .

REASON NUMBER 2, We have sold this carpet at $8.99 for 2 years and it is a real value at $8.99, it is made just for us and we have to purchase 40 rolls at a time. The mill, due to an over purchase of yarn on their part, offered us a bewildering low price if we would purchase 180 rolls.

It is arriving at our new warehouse now.

APARTMENT BUILDERS

We can arrange a volume purchase of this carpet that will put it down to the cost of cheap carpet. If you have a project that will be ready in 60 days or wish to buy & hold give us a call!

HOLDS

We have extra warehouse space presently and can hold, however 1/3 down will be requested to hold past 30 days and ²/₃ past 60 days.

LUXURY CARPET

Step-by-step you'll discover the unmatched luxury of living with this great shag. Discover it as one day you watch your little ones plunge bare toes delightedly into its deeply plush pile . . . as your eye catches the gloss and luster a ray of sunlight lays upon its lucidly dyed yarns . . . and later as you marvel at its thick softness where years of wear have produced paths, but have not. Don't let the low price fool you. Of course, your friends will never guess what you paid for it. Fact is, you could spend a lot more and end up with a lot less!

This luxurious carpet will give your family worlds of service. Simple care will keep it beautiful, as beautiful years from now as it is today. For every yard of its luscious pile is wondrous yarn. Created by the master chemists of Dupont to embody today's most desirable carpeting qualities . . . iron-like wear resistance, nonabsorbent soil resistance, and spring - back crush resistance. Your vacuum whisks away daily soil with ease, and most of the inevitable spills of a busy household need but a damp sponging to disappear. Moth-proof, too, of course!

And Colors! Colors that lay upon your floor . . . the soft sheen of Honey Gold, the cool tones of Green Ice, the warmth of Roman Bronze and Spearmint, or a rich dramatic Red tone.

INSTALLATION

The above price is for carpet only as the price is so low some may wish to purchase and keep for future installation, or install themselves. For installation and padding add $1.99. For installation and best padding add $2.49.

Butter import rumors still not confirmed

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Department sources say they cannot confirm or deny persistent rumors that President Nixon might open the door to huge imports of foreign butter, a move some spokesmen for dairy producers say is like-

Reports circulated widely two weeks ago that the butter import action was imminent. Patrick B. Healy, secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation, wrote a letter to Nixon saving further butter imports were "totally unwarranted" at this time

Butter imports have been regulated under a quota since 1953 at an annual rate of 707.000 pounds. One source said two weeks ago that as much as 15 million pounds of New Zealand butter already had entered the United States and was being held under bond in anticipation of Nixon announcing removal o expansion of the quota.

But USDA sources, asking not to be named, said Tuesday they were unable to substantiate those claims and that there had been "no definite word" from the White House on what Nixon might do.

Production through the first nine months of 1973 was down 2.6 per cent from a year earlier, and department experts think the year's output will fall at least 3 per cent below 1972.

Cow numbers declined further last month to 11.3 million head, down 3 per cent from September last year. Further, production per cow dropped to 798 pounds in September from 808 a year earlier. Department officials say heavy culling of milk herds has continued all year, partly as a result of high prices paid for slaughter animals but also because of cutbacks caused by rising production costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) Wheat farmers continue to be drawn to cash markets for disposal of their 1973 crop rather than to the government's price support loan program, according to the latest Agriculture Department figures.

As of Sept. 30, about 50.8 million bushels of new-crop wheat had been placed under price support loan, less than one-half of the 103.6 million under loan a year earlier from the 1972 crop. The department, in a report,

U.S. advances $5.6 million to Vietnam peace commission

SAIGON (AP) — The United States today advanced $5.6 million to the International Commission of Control and Supervision to help the Vietnam peace-monitoring agency out of a crippling deficit.

The commission is $8 million in debt because the signers of the Vietnam peace agreement have not approved its budget. Last week, citing a "grave situation." it appealed to the United States. South and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong for emergency funds.

The agreement stipulates that the four signers each pay 23 per cent of the commission's expenses. The commission members - Iran, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland — foot the remaining 8 per cent.

The American contribution was made because Air America. the American charter line that transports commission personnel around Vietnam, threatened to ground the observers if its $500,000 bill for August wasn't paid by Oct. 19. Informed sources said the airline is owed for a number of months.

The American advance brings its total payments to the ICCS to $9.1 million. So far South Vietnam has paid $2 million and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong $1.7 million each. Sources said the Saigon government plans another payment

The commission asked for a $43 million operating budget last June.

In another development, former Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam was elected president of the South Vietnamese Senate today. He replaces Nguyen Van Huyen, and this brings all branches of the government firmly under the control of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Military sources reported that the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese fired 13 mortar or rocket rounds at the Pleiku air base Wednesday night. No damage was reported, but pilots at the base took their helicopters aloft until the barrage subsided.

The Cambodian command reported that its forces reopened Highway 4 today in record time. The supply road from the sea was cut by the Khmer Rouge insurgents Tuesday 40 miles northwest of Kompong Som, Cambodia's seaport Fighting was reported at the isolated town of Tram Khnar. 24 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. Government troops said the Khmer Rouge were pressing hard, and that the garrison fought back a large attack early this morning. About 1,000 government troops are reported in the besieged town.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the FBI probe for confirmation congressional hearings has uncovered no potentially embarrassing incidents in his past as far as he could tell from agents' questioning.

The FBI agents interviewed the House Republican leader in his office late Wednesday for an investigation ordered by confirmation committees in both the House and Senate.

How FDA torpedoed top drug

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON - Let this much be emphasized at the outset: Dimethyl sulfoxide, the famous DMSO, is not a

With that disclaimer out of the way, let me ride piggyback on the broad shoulders of Pat McGrady Sr., and return to a story that cries out to be told. McGrady, recently retired science editor of the American Cancer Society, has pulled it all together in a book published by Doubleday last week, 'The Persecuted Drug: The Story of

I got onto this story seven or eight years ago, at the urging of several doctors who wrote to express their dismay and disbelief at what had happened. In DMSO, they believed they had found a marvelously effective substance for treating burns, sprains and certain manifestations of arthritis and skin disease. And the FDA had ordered it banned!

There never was time for me to dig out the whole story. Now McGrady has taken the time. He is a partisan, an enthusiast, a believer. He is sharply critical of the Food and Drug Administration for what he regards as its indefensible timidity and its suffocating prudence. He makes an impressive case.

To go back to the point of beginning: Dimethyl sulfoxide is a simple molecule, easily extracted from coal, oil, most commonly, from lignin. It was isolated more than a hundred years ago in Russia. Its remarkable properties in the healing arts were first perceived in 1961 by Dr. Stanley Wallace Jacob, professor of surgery at the University of Oregon Medical School, and by Robert J. Herschler, a top chemist with Crown Zellerbach Corporation

At the time, Jacob was looking for a means of cooling hearts and other viable organs freshly taken from dead donors. Some British literature had prompted him to believe DMSO might be useful. Herschler brought a gallon of the solution to Jacob's office, and Jacob began the experiments that in time would dominate his life, and damage his professional

Almost immediately, Jacob discovered the phenomenon that offered a hundred thresholds for medical research. He dabbed DMSO on his arm, watched the solution sink in, and was startled to note that the could taste the DMSO. This meant that the solvent had not merely gone deep into the skin, but actually through the skin and into the bloodstream

Jacob's discovery raised the exciting possibility that DMSO might be able to carry other substances into the body — for example, that it might penetrate charred tissues to get at infections down below. As time went on, Jacob discovered that DMSO in itself appeared to have great value in certain cases. The word spread. Other investigators began to experiment and to report dramatic results. Except for the breath odor it produces - a kind of garlic-oyster halitosis — DMSO seemed to have no serious side effects.

The excitement grew, and the excitement was Jacob's undoing. The story of DMSO broke in the popular press before it had been professionally presented in a scientific journal. Jacob is a selfless and dedicated doctor with impeccable qualifications as physician and surgeon. But DMSO came to be identified qmong envious or skeptical members of the scientific community with "unprofessional

Then some animal experiments indicated that in massive doses, far beyond anything that might ever be prescribed for humans, DMSO caused refractive changes in the eye. The FDA, over-reacting to the thalidomide tragedy, leaped up and cried "halt!". This was in November, 1965. Since then, though limited clinical investigations have continued, DMSO has been used only in veterinary medicine. Millions of patients whose suffering might have been relieved by DMSO, without serious risk of major side effects, have been denied its healing properties.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The Agnew affair points up the limitations of investigative reporting. The bloodhounds of the press are expected to sniff out scandal in high places with little more to guide them than their nose for news.

Two years ago, for example, we investigated whispers that Spiro Agnew had pocketed bribes from Maryland contractors. We went into Maryland armed only with a notebook and a pencil. But a notebook is no substitute for a subpoena, and a pencil is a poor prod compared to the Justice Department's power to grant witnesses immunity.

We were told about the pattern of payoffs. We even dug out two witnesses who admitted to us they had slipped cash payments to Agnew. But in each case, no one else saw the money passed, and the cash couldn't be traced. Eventually, we laid our findings before Agnew but he categorically denied everything. The evidence simply wasn't sufficient to accuse the vice president of the United States of a crime. It took the Justice Department to do that two years later.

In contrast with Agnew, his designated successor, Gerald Ford, has a reputation for openness and honesty. Sources close to him say he won't accept cash contributions although he has a politician's constant need for campaign funds.

But we have never heard the slightest suggestion that he has ever diverted a dime to his own personal use

The closest to a political skeleton we have found in his closet was a bespectacled lobbyist named Robert Winter-Berger, who had been associated with fixer Nathan Voloshen and convicted House aide Martin

We reported on Jan. 27, 1970, that Winter-Berger "operated occasionally out of Ford's office." We stressed: "No one who knows Jerry Ford believes he would allow his name to be used by an influencepeddling ring. But in the back-scratching, favor-swapping environment on Capitol Hill, it is easy for a con man to take advantage of a congressman's potent

Two years later, Winter-Berger gave up lobbying and published his confessions in a book called "The Washington Pay-Off." He boasted of his dealings with Ford.

The vice presidential nominee has now made his files on Winter-Berger available to us. These show the lobbyist gained access to Ford on the recommendation of a trusted friend. The congressman's late administrative assistant, Frank Meyer, arranged some routine political favors for Winter-Berger's clients, such as writing a Ford endorsement for an organization seeking to standardize the world calendar and recommending International Mining President Frank Kellogg for a diplomatic

At Winter-Berger's behest, Ford also arranged an immigration extension for a Dutch psychiatrist, Dr. Albert A. Buytendorp, to continue his research work in the U.S. In a thank-you letter. Winter-Berger wrote Ford: "How wonderful it is to deal with your office. Everyone is also so eager to please, so correct and so

In return for these political favors, the

Merry-go-round

Ford's closet clear of any 'skeletons'

lobbyist made a few nominal contributions to various GOP campaign chests. These donations ranged from $125 to $500. Ford thanked him for them in letters addressed

It would appear that Ford's relationship with the lobbyist, although indiscreet, was not a serious scandal.

Footnote: Spiro Agnew once described Washington, D.C., as a "jungle," and declared fiercely it wasn't his jungle. He had just been elected governor of Maryland. I knew him well enough in those days to call him Ted. We talked as friends about his political future. I asked whether he might be looking beyond the State House in Annapolis to Washington 50 miles away. No, he said, he intended to stay out of that jungle. But the lure of power drew him into the forbidden jungle.

BIG OIL - The consumer-oriented Center for Science in the Public Interest warns in an unpublished report that the oil industry appears to be dividing America into separate geographic markets.

While Big Oil has always denied that it is carving up the country to control sales and prices, the center observes in its new study that "the major oil companies (are) concentrating their market areas in certain geographic regions and disposing of their stations in other regions

Exxon, for example, is building in the Northeast, Texas and Louisiana, but is braking in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio, claims the center.

Gulf is reducing in a vast area of the North Central and Northwestern states, where Texaco is expanding. Similar expansions and contractions are occurring with Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of Ohio, Phillips, Atlantic-Richfield, Conoco, Sunoco and BP.

The center's study also shows how Big Oil undercuts its own dealers by using nonbrand names to compete with "independents" at lower prices.

The study recommends marketing at the pump only by independent dealers, a higher gas tax to force development of more efficient engines and a world police force to control oil pollution on the high seas by tankers and other ships.

A's manager plays the waiting game

NEW YORK (AP)-The Oakland A's say their manager. Dick Williams, is quitting after the World Series and that they're still mad at owner Charles O. Finley for "firing" infielder Mike Andrews.

So it's a little hard to believe them when they say the controversy isn't affecting their play in the deadlocked Series with the New York Mets.

The A's, who have grabbed most of the headlines lately with juicy stories of clubhouse unrest, at last took a back seat in the World Series to the New York Mets Wednesday night.

"I hit a fastball." he said about the clout over the leftcenter field fence at Shea Stadium off Ken Holtzman in the first inning. "I hit the ball perfectly so that it could carry that way. I knew the wind was gusting out there.

"I thought, though, that it would fall between the fielders. I was kind of surprised when it went over the fence. I was running as hard as I could because I wasn't sure it was out. It was the first ball I've hit out since the shoulder injury-and obviously, the wind helped."

The blast was the beginning of the end for Holtzman, the A's winner in the opening game of the World Series last Saturday. After the 20-game-winning left-hander walked John Milner and gave up a single to Jerry Grote, he took a shower.

Staub's two-run single highlighted a three-run fourth inning that was mere icing for young Jon Matlack's first World Series victory. The power-throwing left-hand-

Smith-Cotton has a chance to do a number of things in Jennie Jaynes Stadium Friday night at the Homecoming game with Central Missouri Conference foe Hannibal.

A win would match head coach Greg Cook's best victory season in his four years with the Tigers (in 1972, the Tigers went 4-5-1). A win would double his CMC victory column (since coming to S-C. Cook has seen only one league victory — that came last year over Hannibal. 21-7).

And more importantly, a win would keep the Bengals in the thick of the current league race. Rebounding from a 21-7 setback at the hands of Jefferson City two weeks ago. the Tigers sloshed to their third win against two losses last week in Mexico, beating the Bulldogs. 21-8, in a driving rain storm.

Few times since the early and mid-1950's has a Smith-Cotton football team found itself in a position to challenge for the league championship. Although counted out by most observers. the Tigers can get into the thick of the race with a win over the Pirates, who have won only one of their first five outings.

The Jefferson City setback might have looked like the end of S-C's loop championship hopes, but only briefly. Last week the Jays, who have won or tied for 15 CMC titles since 1956, suffered a 9-6 upset at the hands of Columbia Hickman.

That completed the Jays' conference season at 2-1; it was the league opener for the Kewpies.

Even though most are already lauding Hickman as the repeat champion, Cook insists that his Tigers have a chance.

"A win Friday night will put us at 1-1 in the league and by no means will we be out of the championship picture," he said after last week's win over Mexico.

If things go the way Cook hopes, his Tigers could finish in a tie for the title.

Looking at it from the most optimistic point of view, if S-C beats Hannibal. Hannibal upsets Columbia (Oct. 26) and the Tigers likewise upset the Kewpies-(Oct. 2), for the first time since 1957, the Tigers would gain a share of the conference championship.

If things would go that way. S-C would tie with Jefferson City for the title.

It may sound remote, but it is a possibility and Cook's not about to give up without a strong fight.

Even a three-way tie in the small, but strong, four-team CMC could develop if S-C downs Hannibal and Hickman and the Kewpies defeat Hannibal. That would leave S-C, the Jays and Columbia Hickman in a threeway deadlock.

But the Tigers have to get past Hannibal, so first things

Hannibal's only win came over Kirksville, 13-12, three weeks ago. Kirksville has yet to find the victory column, which might be a good omen . . . then again it might not.

Candidates announced

The queen candidates for the 1973 Smith-Cotton Homecoming have been announced. The queen will be crowned during halftime ceremonies at Friday night's football game between the Tigers and Hannibal.

Candidates this year are Angela Gorden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Gorden of 816 Manor Court: Willet James. daughter of Mrs. Rosemary James of 613 North Osage; and Jamie Schumaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schumaker of 1915 West Third.

All the candidates are seniors.

The Homecoming Parade is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m. in downtown Sedalia. Saturday night, the Homecoming Dance will be held in the high school cafeteria tougher, especially when one counted out of the race either. Back-to-back wins over S-C and Columbia Hickman would earn the Pirates a share of the CMC championship.

If nothing else. Hannibal's got won or shared since the for 188 yards and two have found paydirt.

Williams is Jarvis Young, an end. Young has 108 yards on only five catches

But the Pirates lack offensive punch on the ground. As a team, they have picked up only 558 yards rushing in the first five games. Leading the way in Coach Ken Scheu's I-formation offense is I-back Rod Knepp. who has 184 yards on 43 carries. Rampy follows with 126 yards on 35 attempts.

Despite Scheu's theory of I want to control the ball on the ground." the Pirates have had a tough time doing that in the opening half of the season for the first-year Bucs'mentor.

The team's leading groundgainer, fullback Anthony Haley, was recently booted off the squad for missing practice and showing up late for the trip to Cape Girardeau. Haley had amassed 133 vards on 29 carries in the first three games, until his departure. He has since been replaced by a sophomore. Greg Nesbitt.

Buffington, a 185-pound junior. is the anchor on both the offensive line and at linebacker. On the other hand, Smith-Cotton's ground game is the Tigers' basic strength. Heading the list is the league's leading rusher, tailback Dane Henningsen, who has 530 yards on 89 carries to date for a whopping 6.0 yard average.

The only real change in Cook's starting lineup will be on offense, with senior Mike Boggs moving into a starting role at power back in place of Jim Vansell

"This really isn't a change." Cook pointed out Wednesday night. "We had hoped to get him ready for the game last week with Mexico, but we didn't have the time.

Boggs, the team's secondleading rusher with 254 yards on 54 carries, has been playing back-up to Henningsen at tailback. He also has played fullback and power back. This will be his first start in the Tigers' I-formation. In the State Fair Community College may get another victory for the 1972-73 basketball campaign, if the National Junior College Athletic Association forces Hutchinson, Kan., Community Junior College to forfeit all its victories last season in which Rudy Jackson participated.

Wildcats, Colts remain on top in SJFL action

The Wildcats and the Colts remained in first place in their respective divisions of the Sedalia Junior League Football standings Wednesday night.

The Wildcats blanked the Tigers, 20-0, for their sixth win against no defeats in the fifthsixth grade division. Kent Dinsdale. Jeff Byrd and Stanley Bail scored the Wildcats TD's.

The Chiefs handed the Colts their second loss of the season, but the 14-0 setback didn't drop the Colts from the top of the third-fourth grade division. David Boggs and Terry Stewart supplied all the scoring for the Chiefs, who now stand at 4-1-1 in the league

In the night's only other game, George Craig's TD was enough for the Vikings in their 6-0 victory over the Bears.

Action resumes Sunday afternoon with four games on the schedule. At 1 p.m., the Colts and the Jets clash; the Chiefs and the Raiders meet at 2:15 p.m.; at 3:30 p.m., the Tigers take on the Bears; the finale finds the Wildcats meeting the Vikings at 4:45 p.m.

Hamlet faces that question

By Oswald & James Jacoby 'To finesse or not to finesse.

that is the question," soliloquized Hamlet, the melancholy Dane Guildenstern had opened the queen of diamonds against Hamlet's four-heart contract.

The fair Ophelia, who had merely raised Hamlet from one heart to two, put down a sound dummy. Hamlet's hand was sound also and a quick look at dummy indicated that everything was fine in the state of Denmark

He won the diamond lead in dummy and played the queen of hearts. Rosenkranz, sitting you do now? East, was too good a bridge player to cover one of equal honors with another honor, so his failure to play the king or to stop to think gave no clue to the monarch's location.

Hamlet soliloquized further. The fair Ophelia will be mad if I don't make this contract. Can I lose it if I finesse? Yes, I can. Can I lose it if I don't finesse? No. I can't.

He was right. If he finessed. West would take his king and lead another diamond. Dummy's second high diamond would be ruffed and with two tricks in, the defense would still collect a diamond and a spade

But Hamlet went up with his ace; led a second trump and claimed his contract. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Proposed government agency is criticized

BALLWIN, Mo. (AP)-A proposed regional government agency for the St. Louis area has come under heavy criticism from municipal officials who say the agency would not fairly represent them.

Jefferson and St. Louis county residents complained at a public hearing Wednesday night that Missouri counties would hold only 14 of the 28 seats on the St. Louis Area Council of Governments.

State Rep. Arthur Meyer, D-Bellefontaine Neighbors, said Missouri will pay 80 per cent of the cost of the agency and will have 80 per cent of the area's population, but only get half of the representation.

The proposed council would replace the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council as the regional planning agency for the Missouri and Illinois portions of the St. Louis area. Plans for the agency were hammered out during the past year by the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Task

Only about 40 persons attended the hearing, which was sponsored by the St. Louis County Citizens Committee in Ballwin.

The executive committee of the St. Louis County Municipal League has also gone on record opposing representation on the council.

By a unanimous vote, the committee adopted a resolution opposing the equal representation given Illinois. The resolution asks the Mis-

Starting today, a third highly advanced vehicle will be serviced by computer.

That's pretty lofty company for a Volkswagen to be in, isn't it? We're really proud to be up there.

Imagine. The humble little Beetle—the only vehicle on earth (full-time) with a Computer Diagnosis system.

And just what on earth is a Computer Diagnosis system? Simply the most technical, most automated check-up a car can possibly have.

Inside every new VW are tiny electronic probes and sensors that meet at a socket in back of the car.

When you drive in to your authorized VW dealer for a check-up (the first four are free by the way), a computer is plugged into the socket.

Then your car tells our computer exactly what's right or wrong with it in important

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago you printed a letter from "Big Q" regarding her husband's loss of sexual ability due to the medication he was taking for high blood pressure.

She might as well face the fact that he will be on medication as long as he lives. His sex life is over. High blood pressure can be kept under control, but only so long as a person stays on the medication. I know because I've been waiting for five years for my husband to "liven up" and it hasn't happened.

So here I am at 48, climbing the walls and trying to behave myself. When I confided in the doctor, he said, "You should be glad he's still alive." Of course I am, but I'm - Not Dead Yet

Dear N.D.Y.: It ill behooves me to tell your doctor how to practice medicine, but perhaps he doesn't know that a change in medication might eliminate the problem you describe. That doctor may be keeping your husband's blood pressure under control, but he hasn't done much for you. I suggest another doctor who might lead you and your husband to joint counseling. Many couples enjoy sex even though one (or both) are on medication for high blood pressure.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter signed "Clutched" brought back memories. Her boy friend had given her an expensive bracelet which she later learned belonged to his mother. How I wish I had seen that letter 12 years ago — and been mature enough to understand what it

I thought it rather odd that the young man I was "spaced out over" (we called it "love" in those days) bought me a ring about four sizes too large. I also thought it strange that the ring didn't look new and he didn't bring it in a box, but carried it in his pocket.

Some months later when his older sister commented that she used to have a ring very similar to mine. I knew in my heart that he had taken that ring from her. But my mind refused to accept the fact

After six miserable years I finally divorced him. I hope Clutched sees this letter and takes the hint. It would be easier now than if she marries him and has to put up bail, appear in court, work two jobs, pay bills for things she never saw or heard of, and then finds out he's a hopeless liar and a crook. - Mrs. O.

Dear O.: I received at least a dozen letters from women who wrote along similar lines. (None is so blind as she who will not

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for telling the woman who couldn't tolerate "that spoiled. wild, uncontrollable brat" that his mother should have him tested because the child might be hyperkinetic

We have such a child and I thank my lucky stars that a neighbor recognized the symptoms and urged me to take him to a doctor. I was worn to a frazzle by that boy. I spanked him, punished him and deprived him of things he loved best. But nothing worked. He was running a mile a minute, always into something, driving me crazy

Segregation by board is charged

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City chapter of the NAACP charges that the Kansas City school board segregates black administrators and assigns most of the substitute teachers in predominantly black schools.

In presenting the charges, the Rev. J. L. Kincaid, NAACP representative, said the administration purposely segregated administrators who deal with the district's federally funded Title I programs in offices away from the Board of Education building

Henry P. Poindexter, board president, told the Rev. Mr. Kincaid the board would investigate the charges, but he later commented. "I think a lot of this stuff is pure harassment and don't think it's anything

Nazi car

Robert M. Pass, St. Louis, who is Jewish, is now halfowner of the Mercedes-Benz that Adolf Hitler used to parade before his public. He and his partner, Walter A. Klein, bought the 1940-41 model automobile for $176,000 at a Lancaster, Pa., auction. The car took four years to build and rolled out of a factory in Stuttgart, Germany, at a cost of $2,600,000. It weighs 11,000 pounds, partly because of armor plating and the two-inch thick, bullet-proof glass. The two St. Louis County men plan to use the car to raise money for charities. And most of the charities are going to be Jewish. Pass, 33, who is president of a firm that buys and sells antique cars, said the car was not for sale.

Swamp gas not entire answer to UFO reports

Swamp gas and the changing seasons, ball lightning and bright stars may all contribute to the cycles of UFO sightings.

For more than 20 years, the Air Force investigated unidentified flying objects, finally concluding in December 1969 that its project Blue Book was no longer justified either for security

But closing the book obviously had little, if any, effect on the UFOs. Sightings continued, as they have in recent days.

The modern flying saucer era in the United States began in 1947 when a businessman-pilot reported seeing nine strange moving objects over Mt. Rainier. A decade later there were a host of reports from Texas, New Mexico and Southern California. In 1965, there were worldwide sightings. In the Antarctic, a sighting coincided with disruption of electromagnetic equipment.

The Blue Book ascribed the bulk of sightings to aircraft, weather, sounding balloons, satellites, meteors, bright stars and planets, missiles, searchlights, clouds, birds, reflections, temperature inversions, mirages, electric wires sparking and swamp gas, and others added ball lightning and plasmas of ionized air.

'Sightings vary according to weather and how much publicity any sightings receive nationally," one expert said. "If publicity continues for several days, sighting reports go up throughout the country as well as in the original locality. Sightings pick up in the spring and fall when meteorological changes are more

But for all this, some sightings remain unexplained. In the latest rash of sightings, Dr. J. Allen Hynek, Northwestern University astronomer, says all the cases should be thoroughly investigated by a special official agency.

The case of the two Mississippi men who reported meeting strange creatures in a craft hovering over the water a week ago last Thursday, Dr. Hynek says, supports the view "that a phenomenon exists which is as yet unexplained.

Hynek was a consultant to the Blue Book project, and maintains a private center for UFO reports because, he says, "a mystery still remains.

Despite official explanations for UFOs, a number of citizens continued to report strange objects in the sky. It was reported Thursday that during debriefing sessions the Skylab 2 astronauts said they had seen a mysterious reddish object not more than 30 to 50 nautical miles from their spaceship during their 59-day flight.

Dr. Owen K. Garriott, one of the three astronauts, said the object was brighter than any of the planets, had a reddish hue and was well above the horizon. He said the object was seen one day in mid-September and was never seen again.

Two men working on an offshore oil platform 60 miles south of Crowley, La., reported that a weird oblong object came within 100 feet of them late Wednesday. They said the object, which had colored lights and produced a whining sound. hovered at 1,000 feet before making a descent. The men said the machine cut their electrical power while it was hovering near

And in Evergreen, Ala., a police dispatcher said she, three police officers and a deputy sheriff played with a UFO Wednesday night.

Mrs. William Turner said the object was oblong, about the size of a six-room house and had a light orange glow and blinking red lights. She said it hovered over city hall during the night, emitting a "beep, beep, beep" sound.

'We played with it, and it was playing with us," she said.

Fierce tank battle in Mideast conflict

Israeli and Egyptian tanks battled fiercely Thursday in the biggest tank battle of the Mideast war. Israel said it drove a wedge into Egyptian forces all the way to the eastern bank of the Suez Canal, and the Cairo command said it had surrounded its foes at several points.

An Israeli military spokesman said that in addition to splitting the Egyptian army on the eastern bank of the canal, Israeli tanks were floated on rafts across the canal in daylight to help an Israeli task force.

The relief armor sent to the task force squeezed through the wedge, which extended north from the Great Bitter Lake. the spokesman said.

An Egyptian general said Wednesday night that the Israeli task force on the west bank of the canal had been destroyed.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of Israel, according to a pooled news report, said in an interview in the Sinai that the "critical" battle there would not begin for a few days.

A military spokesman with Dayan said Israeli forces destroyed 360 Egyptian tanks in the last four days.

Cairo has not made any specific claims of total Israeli armor losses in the tank battle. U.S. intelligence has considered destruction claims by both sides to be inflated.

Israeli Gen. Uzi Narkis, speaking for the army in Tel Aviv, said 10 Egyptian warplanes, were shot down Thursday - three over the Mediterranean. He said six Egyptian helicopters, some carrying troops, also were blasted out of the sky.

A Cairo communique said its "air defenses repelled enemy planes that tried to attack a number of our advanced airfields on the front." The communique said 15 Israeli planes, including helicopters, were shot down.

The Egyptians said the toughest battles centered around the Bitter Lakes near the middle of the 103-mile-long canal that had served as a cease-fire line since Israel seized the Sinai Peninsula in 1967.

"It looks as if it will come to a head soon," said Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, former Israeli military intelligence chief and now the state radio's top commentator.

The Isreli command claimed its forces were still in positions about three to six miles east of the canal but the Egyptians did not pinpoint how far they have advanced since they stormed across the waterway when the new war erupted Oct.

The jagged battle lines around Egyptian beachheads on the eastern bank have been reported to range from 2½ to 10 miles inside the Sinai Desert. Israeli spokesmen told newsmen Thursday night that their forces had the upper hand in fighting on both sides of the canal, suggesting that, according to Israel, Egypt's hold on the eastern bank had been loosened in places.

Gunmen threaten violence

BEIRUT (AP) - Five masked Arab gunmen shot their way into the Bank of America office Thursday, killing a policeman and threatening to kill 66 Lebanese and Japanese hostages and blow up a seven-story building if their demands were not met.

The gunmen, members of the "Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Movement," at first said they would kill the hostages and blow up the building in which the office is located by 6 p.m. — noon EDT — Thursday if they did not get millions in cash and other concessions. They postponed the deadline without giving a reason.

Negotiations between the gunmen and the Lebanese government were being conducted through Algeria's ambassador to Lebanon.

Police said there were 64 Lebanese and two Japanese hostages, all Bank of America employes. After two gun battles with police and troops in which a policeman was killed

How the President picked the Veep

WASHINGTON - There has been a certain amount of consternation among congressmen, senators and Republican Party leaders over the manner in which President Nixon selected Gerald Ford as his new vice president. If you recall, Mr. Nixon asked members of Congress. governors and party leaders to submit three names to him of people they thought he should appoint. Everyone now thinks they've been had because the President apparently had made his choice before the names were submitted.

I am happy to report that this is not the case. The lists played an important part in the President's decision.

This is what happend. All the envelopes containing the names of vice-presidential possibilities were gathered up and flown by helicopter to Camp David where the President. Pat. Julie and David Eisenhower and Tricia and Ed Cox were waiting to count them. Since this was such a personal decision, the President wanted no one but members of his immediate family to be in on it.

The envelopes were dumped on the living room floor and everyone dove in with letter openers. The President had a yellow legal pad on his lap

Pat opened it. "It's not a ballot. It's a subpoena for your tapes.

"What a dirty way to serve it." the President said angrily

"Did you ask Howard Hughes to submit a suggestion?" Eddie Cox asked.

"I did not." the President replied.

"Well, there's nothing in the envelope but $50,000 in cash."

How FDA torpedoed top drug

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON - Let this much be emphasized at the outset: Dimethyl sulfoxide, the famous DMSO, is not a 'miracle drug.'

With that disclaimer out of the way, let me ride piggyback on the broad shoulders of Pat McGrady Sr., and return to a story that cries out to be told. McGrady, recently retired science editor of the American Cancer Society, has pulled it all together in a book published by Doubleday last week. "The Persecuted Drug: The Story of

I got onto this story seven or eight years ago, at the urging of several doctors who wrote to express their dismay and disbelief at what had happened In DMSO, they believed they had found a marvelously effective substance for treating burns, sprains and certain manifestations of arthritis and skin disease. And the FDA had ordered it banned!

There never was time for me to dig out the whole story. Now McGrady has taken the time. He is a partisan, an enthusiast, a believer. He is sharply critical of the Food and Drug Administration for what he regards as its indefensible timidity and its suffocating prudence. He makes an impressive case.

To go back to the point of beginning: Dimethyl sulfoxide is a simple molecule, easily extracted from coal, oil, most commonly, from lignin. It was isolated more than a hundred years ago in Russia. Its remarkable properties in the healing arts were first perceived in 1961 by Dr. Stanley Wallace Jacob, professor of surgery at the University of Oregon Medical School, and by Robert J. Herschler, a top chemist with Crown Zellerbach Corporation.

At the time, Jacob was looking for a means of cooling hearts and other viable organs freshly taken from dead donors. Some British literature had prompted him believe DMSO might be useful. Herschler brought a gallon of the solution to Jacob's office, and Jacob began the experiments that in time would dominate his life, and damage his professional

Almost immediately, Jacob discovered the phenomenon that offered a hundred thresholds for medical research. He dabbed DMSO on his arm, watched the solution sink in, and was startled to note that the could taste the DMSO. This meant that the solvent had not merely gone deep into the skin, but actually through the skin and into the bloodstream.

Jacob's discovery raised the exciting possibility that DMSO might be able to carry other substances into the body — for example, that it might penetrate charred tissues to get at infections down below. As time went on, Jacob discovered that DMSO in itself appeared to have great value in certain cases. The word spread. Other investigators began to experiment and to report dramatic results. Except for the breath odor it produces - a kind of garlic-oyster halitosis — DMSO seemed to have no serious side effects.

The excitement grew, and the excitement was Jacob's undoing. The story of DMSO broke in the popular press before it had been professionally presented in a scientific journal. Jacob is a selfless and dedicated doctor with impeccable qualifications as physician and surgeon. But DMSO came to be identified qmong envious or skeptical members of the scientific community with "unprofessional

Then some animal experiments indicated that in massive doses, far beyond anything that might ever be prescribed for humans. DMSO caused refractive changes in the eye. The FDA, over-reacting to the thalidomide tragedy, leaped up and cried "halt!". This was in November, 1965. Since then, though limited clinical investigations have continued, DMSO has been used only in veterinary medicine. Millions of patients whose suffering might have been relieved by DMSO, without serious risk of major side effects, have been denied its healing

"IT WIJZ A FORD COME FLYIN' OUTTA NOWHERE."

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The Agnew affair points up the limitations of investigative reporting. The bloodhounds of the press are expected to sniff out scandal in high places with little more to guide them than their nose for news

Two years ago, for example, we investigated whispers that Spiro Agnew had pocketed bribes from Maryland contractors. We went into Maryland armed only with a notebook and a pencil. But a notebook is no substitute for a subpoena, and a pencil is a poor prod compared to the Justice Department's power to grant witnesses immunity.

We were told about the pattern of payoffs. We even dug out two witnesses who admitted to us they had slipped cash payments to Agnew. But in each case, no one else saw the money passed, and the cash couldn't be traced. Eventually, we laid our findings before Agnew but he categorically denied everything. The evidence simply wasn't sufficient to accuse the vice president of the United States of a crime. It took the Justice Department to do that two years later.

In contrast with Agnew, his designated successor, Gerald Ford, has a reputation for openness and honesty. Sources close to him say he won't accept cash contributions although he has a politician's constant need for campaign funds.

But we have never heard the slightest suggestion that he has ever diverted a dime to his own personal use.

The closest to a political skeleton we have found in his closet was a bespectacled lobbyist named Robert Winter-Berger, who had been associated with fixer Nathan Voloshen and convicted House aide Martin

We reported on Jan. 27, 1970, that Winter-Berger "operated occasionally out of Ford's office." We stressed: "No one who knows Jerry Ford believes he would allow his name to be used by an influencepeddling ring. But in the back-scratching, favor-swapping environment on Capitol Hill, it is easy for a con man to take advantage of a congressman's potent

Two years later, Winter-Berger gave up lobbying and published his confessions in a book called "The Washington Pay-Off." He boasted of his dealings with Ford.

The vice presidential nominee has now made his files on Winter-Berger available to us. These show the lobbyist gained access to Ford on the recommendation of a trusted friend. The congressman's late administrative assistant, Frank Meyer, arranged some routine political favors for Winter-Berger's clients, such as writing a Ford endorsement for an organization seeking to standardize the world calendar and recommending International Mining President Frank Kellogg for a diplomatic appointment.

At Winter-Berger's behest, Ford also arranged an immigration extension for a Dutch psychiatrist, Dr. Albert A. Buytendorp, to continue his research work in the U.S. In a thank-you letter, Winter-Berger wrote Ford: "How wonderful it is to deal with your office. Everyone is also so eager to please, so correct and so lobbyist made a few nominal contributions prices, the center observes in its new study to various GOP campaign chests. These donations ranged from $125 to $500. Ford concentrating their market areas in certain thanked him for them in letters addressed geographic regions and disposing of their "Dear Bob" and signed "Jerry."

Merry-go-round

Ford's closet clear of any 'skeletons'

It would appear that Ford's relationship with the lobbyist, although indiscreet, was not a serious scandal

Footnote: Spiro Agnew once described Washington, D.C., as a "jungle," and declared fiercely it wasn't his jungle. He had just been elected governor of Maryland. I knew him well enough in those days to call him Ted. We talked as friends about his political future. I asked whether he might be looking beyond the State House in Annapolis to Washington 50 miles away. No, he said, he intended to stay out of that jungle. But the lure of power drew him into the forbidden jungle.

BIG OIL - The consumer-oriented Center for Science in the Public Interest warns in an unpublished report that the oil industry appears to be dividing America into separate geographic markets.

While Big Oil has always denied that it is carving up the country to control sales and that "the major oil companies (are) stations in other regions."

Exxon, for example, is building in the Northeast, Texas and Louisiana, but is braking in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio, claims the center.

Gulf is reducing in a vast area of the North Central and Northwestern states, where Texaco is expanding. Similar expansions and contractions are occurring with Standard Oil of Indiana, Standard Oil of Ohio, Phillips, Atlantic-Richfield, Conoco, Sunoco and BP.

The center's study also shows how Big Oil undercuts its own dealers by using nonbrand names to compete with "independents" at lower prices.

The study recommends marketing at the pump only by independent dealers, a higher gas tax to force development of more efficient engines and a world police force to control oil pollution on the high seas by tankers and other ships.

To finesse or not to finesse. that is the question." solilo-quized Hamlet, the melancholy Dane.

Guildenstern had opened the queen of diamonds against Hamlet's four-heart contract.

The fair Ophelia, who had merely raised Hamlet from one heart to two, put down a sound dummy. Hamlet's hand was sound also and a quick look at dummy indicated that everything was fine in the state of Denmark.

He won the diamond lead in dummy and played the queen of hearts. Rosenkranz, sitting East, was too good a bridge player to cover one of equal honors with another honor, so his failure to play the king or to stop to think gave no clue to the monarch's location.

Hamlet soliloquized further. The fair Ophelia will be mad if I don't make this contract. Can I lose it if I finesse? Yes, I can. Can I lose it if I don't finesse? No. I can't.

But Hamlet went up with his ace: led a second trump and claimed his contract. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Howard Quarries files suit here

A $7,273 civil suit was filed in Pettis County Circuit Court Thursday by Howard Quarries. West Highway 50, naming the Dean Construction Co., 501 East Second, as the defendant

The suit alleges that between Oct. 26 1971, and Sept. 28, 1973, the Howard Quarries sold $12,426.78 worth of rock to the construction company

The suit contends that the defendant has paid $5,152.93 of that amount and still owes the remainder. The petition further alleges that the Dean firm, has failed to pay the balance after promising to do so.

Egil Krogh is expecting new charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney for Egil Krogh Jr., former boss of the White House plumbers unit, said Thursday his client expects to face new federal charges stemming from the 1971 burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Stephen Shulman made the disclosure after Krogh pleaded innocent to charges he lied to the Watergate grand jury.

Shulman told U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that Krogh probably will be indicted on additional federal charges and he asked the judge to consolidate all the cases if new indictments are returned.

A federal grand jury indicted Krogh last week on charges he lied when asked about the activities of Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy.

The federal monies appropriated for urban transportation and mass transit development will be available to all cities over 5,000 population, Thompson said. During the final two years of the current appropriation, he later indicated, more of this money will be allocated to the purchase of buses in addition to construction projects and other endeavors. This option, he emphasized, will belong to individual governing units and not to Federal bodies

Traffic safety measures are also receiving more attention from federal highway authorities and legislators. Thompson said. Citing the fact that 56,000 Americans were killed, and 4 million injured, in traffic accidents during the past year. Thompson described the situation 'as a grim reality Congress has had to face

He then outlined recently-authorized federal traffic safety programs which he said would "provide a cornerstone of lasting good results." The program, he said, involves cooperating with state governments to provide warning lights at all railroad crossings; eliminating all "specific location" highway hazards, such as unusually sharp curves; replacing all existing roadside light poles with breakaway support poles to reduce injuries; and reconstructing or replacing deficient

These programs, Thompson explained, will be financed by state and federal funds. Upcoming activities highlighting the remainder of the two-day meeting will be a banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday featuring Gilbert M. Schuster, president of the American Public Works Association.

progressed in their contacts aimed at a settlement but have not yet agreed on a public peace proposal

Talk of their efforts was fueled by unconfirmed reports in several world capitals that Soviet Premier Alexei N Kosygin was heading a Russian mission in Cairo. The British foreign secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, said in London that he believes Kosygin is in the Egyptian capital on "a mission of peace."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, D-N.Y., told newsmen in New York that a cease-fire would come "in a period of time numbered in days rather than weeks or months. He reported no specific developments to substantiate his prediction.

The Pentagon claimed Israeli fighter planes ran into Soviet-made MIG jets piloted by North Koreans in a brief dogfight south of Cairo. Defense Department spokesman William Beecher declined to identify the source of the information or explain how the pilots were identified at the generally supersonic speeds of aerial

But about 30 North Korean pilots were known to be in Egypt on loan to President Anwar Sadat's air force before the fighting began. They had been believed to be training Egyptians.

Other U.S. officials in Washington said the American airlift of war supplies for Israel was continuing without letup. The Soviets also were pressing their supply effort for Egypt and Syria, they added.

Expect federal funds for area law enforcement work

Law enforcement agencies in Pettis. Johnson and Lafayette Counties will receive $150,898 in federal money next year for law enforcement and judicial programs. Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said Thursday.

This represents an $86,000 increase over funds received by the three-county region previously, but about $41,000 less than was originally anticipated by members of the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission.

Fairfax said the allotment was approved Wednesday at a meeting of the State Law Enforcement Assistance Council in Jefferson City. Fairfax is a member of the state council.

Local representatives on the Region B Show-Me Law Enforcement Assistance Council, which consists of the three counties, now must meet to decide how the money will be spent, Fairfax said.

Earlier this year each law enforcement agency submitted its program request for the federal funds. The requests totaled $210,092. Fairfax explained that a priority list must be established within the region due to the fact that the actual allotment is $60,000 less than the amount requested.

Fairfax said he was "very happy to see the increase" in funding. He said two years ago the three county-area only received $25,000 in federal funds.

Man is jailed after attacking police officer

A disturbance Wednesday afternoon resulted in the arrest of a Sedalia man after he allegedly assaulted a police officer with his fists while the officer was still in his patrol car.

Officer Lloyd Simons was sent to the 1800 block of East Fifth shortly before 12:30 p.m. Wednesday to investigate a report of a disturbance. According to the police, when he arrived a man identified as George Taber, 36, 1809 East Fifth, was walking around the outside of his house. When he saw the police car pull up he approached the vehicle and reportedly attacked Simons.

F. H. Rush, owner of Sedalia Ambulance Co., was at the scene when Simons arrived. Rush told The Democrat-Capital that Taber's wife had called and requested an ambulance. He said that when he arrived at the address, he found that Taber was "tearing up the house" and he advised Mrs. Taber to call the police. When Rush saw Taber attack Simons, he said he pulled Taber away from the car until Simons could get out. Once out of the car. Simons reported that he was forced to subdue Taber and handcuff him

Taber was reportedly bleeding from both wrists, apparently as the results of knocking out several windows in the house. He was taken in the ambulance to Bothwell Hospital where he was treated for the cuts on his wrists and a small laceration on his forehead and then released to police.

Taber was being held in city jail as of late Thursday morning. He is to appear in Municipal Court Friday morning on a charge of assaulting a police officer.

In other police news, a thief made a slim haul Wednesday night after breaking into the Stucco Inn, 109 South Grand.

According to police, officers on routine patrol observed a person running from the building. The man reportedly ran north to Main Street and then northeast across the tracks, where the officer lost him

A check of the building revealed that a juke box and a cigarette machine had been broken into, but the thief only obtained about $2 from the machines, according to Joseph Stout, owner of the business.

A portable TV had been removed from the building but was found outside, as were three six-packs of beer.

Entry to the building was apparently gained by breaking a hasp on the front

A typewriter, record player, camera, and various other articles were taken from the home of Mrs. Helen Emo, 3103 Clarendon Road, Wednesday evening after burglars had apparently pryed open a sliding door to Mrs. Emo told police that she had left the house at around 5 p.m. Wednesday and that her two sons left at 6:15 p.m.

When one of her sons came home at 11:20 p.m., a sliding glass door to the family room had apparently been pried open. Police officers said that fingerprints were present but they were smudged

Other items taken from the house included $90 in change, assorted men's clothing, and two jewelry boxes. Police are still investigating the incident.

Peck said he tried to back off, but could not get the gears into reverse and was pulling ahead when the train struck.

Tom Ulery was installing a manhole about 100 feet north of the crossing. He said steam seemed to boil up around the train for 30 seconds after the impact and then there was a big explosion

Robert Pittman was filling his pickup at a garage near the crossing. He said he heard one large explosion and then two or three smaller ones. One wall of a nearby steak house was charred. Three cars on its parking lot were destroyed and the roof caught fire briefly. A large plate glass window was blown out. An eight-inch natural gas line ruptured between the steakhouse and the tracks, and police cleared the immediate area.

The tanker truck was owned by G&G Oil Co. of Clinton. The 44-car freight was headed for Pueblo, Colo., from St. Louis.

The approved budget allocation plan for the entire state, which was recently drawn up by Fairfax on a population basis.

monies is being channeled to rural areas. In the first years of the federal program more of the money was being allocated to urban areas. The program was begun in 1968, Fairfax said.

explains why a larger share of the federal

After each regional council determines which projects will receive federal funds, the state council will submit a state-wide plan to the federal government for approval, Fairfax said.

The Sedalia police department, the Pettis County sheriff's department and the juvenile office for the 18th Judicial Circuit (Pettis and Cooper Counties) have submitted fund requests with the Region 13 Council.

The police department is seeking $12,825. to be used toward hiring three additional policemen and $2,700 for equipment

The sheriff's department submitted a request of $12,000 to be used in hiring an additional field deputy and assistant transportation officer, and for office equipment.

A total of $4,069 was requested by the juvenile officer toward salary and travel expenses of a deputy juvenile officer.

A decrease in federal funding was partially responsible for the reduction of the amount of anticipated funding. Fairfax also said the previous amount anticipated by the regional planning commission was only a preliminary estimate.

Hijacker is killed in attempt

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — The wife of a prominent public relations executive was fatally shot Thursday inside the Air France Boeing 727 she hijacked for the avowed purpose of going to Cairo.

Three police officers disguised as service personnel boarded the plane, which had stopped at Marseille's Marignane Airport to refuel, and shot the woman in the head and chest when she aimed her longbarreled pistol at them, Marseille Police Chief Rene Heckenroth told newsmen. She died later in a hospital.

Police said she hijacked the plane on a domestic flight from Paris to Nice and demanded to be taken to Cairo. Heckenroth described her as "unbalanced. incoherently and making speaking persistent threats against the pilot and the chief steward whom she kept as hostages.'

Police identified the hijacker as Mrs. Daniele Cravenne, 35, wife of Georges Cravenne, owner of a big Paris public relations firm. Cravenne, formerly married to French movie star Francoise Arnoul, married the former Daniele Batisse in 1968. They had two children.

According to the police account, Mrs. Cravenne threatened the pilot, Michel Desavoye, with her gun during the scheduled 90-minute flight from Paris to Nice, and ordered him to head for Cairo.

Desayove said he did not have enough fuel and suggested a refueling stop in Marseille. Mrs. Cravenne agreed, and when the plane taxied to a halt in a remote part of Marignane Airport, it was immediately surrounded by armed police.

Mrs. Cravenne allowed the 110 passengers and most of the crew to disembark, retaining only Desavoye and the steward.

Friends said Mrs. Cravenne left Paris alone to fly to Nice. The real motives for her action were not clear. Fellow passengers said she demanded at various times that all automobile traffic be halted throughout France for 24 hours.

Nobel Prize for writing announced

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Australian writer Patrick White won the 1973 Nobel Prize for Literature Thursday for his "epic and psychological narrative art" about pioneer life. The prize for economic science went to Harvard economist Wassily Leontief for development of a technique of production analysis in practical use around the world.

The Swedish Academy's choice of White, 61, marked the first time in more than 10 years that the literature prize went to a writer in English. It was Australia's third Nobel Prize

The last American winner in literature was John Steinbeck in 1962, and the last Briton was Winston Churchill in 1953. Irish playwright Samuel Becket, who took the honor in 1969, writes in French.

The Royal Academy of Sciences honored Russian-born Leontief, 67, for innovating the 30-year-old input-output economic analysis technique, recently used to calculate harm to the environment from industrial pollution.

Nobel prizes carry a $120,000 cash award this year.

The Swedish academy cited White "for an epic and psychological narrative art which has introduced a new continent into literature.

He made his literary debut with the novel "Happy Valley" in 1939. He achieved fame overseas in 1955 with publication of "The Tree of Man," an epic on the life of a pioneer couple.

Leontief, who brought the prize to Harvard for a second straight year, emigrated to the United States in 1931 after doctoral studies in Berlin.

Growth down but inflation still spirals

WASHINGTON (AP) - The country's economic growth during the third quarter of the year was just about what the Nixon administration wanted but inflation continued at a disappointingly high rate, the government reported Thursday.

The Commerce Department's thirdquarter report on the Gross National Product included both good news, a favorable 3.6 per cent annual rate of real economic growth, and bad news, an inflation rate of 6.7 per cent. The over-all increase in GNP - which is the value of the nation's output of goods and services was listed as up $32 billion, or 10.4 per cent, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.3

The high rate of inflation was not a surprise. It had been clearly indicated by earlier government indexes on consumer and wholesale prices.

But the Nixon administration seemed sure to be satisfied with the 3.6 per cent increase in real economic growth, which followed the explosive 8.7 per cent growth rate of the first quarter and the low rate of 2.4 per cent in the second quarter.

Real economic growth is the over-all growth rate, minus growth attributed to inflation. The GNP is the nation's major measure of economic performance.

The administration has set four per cent as the target growth rate for the economy because it believes this rate is high enough to escape recession, but slow enough to discourage new inflation.

The control over the growth rate appeared at least partially due to policies of the Federal Reserve Board, which has sought to slow the economy by putting a squeeze on money supply. The squeeze in turn, has forced interest rates up and made business borrowing more expensive.

Pipeline measure advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees reached agreement Thursday on legislation approving construction of a 789mile oil pipeline across Alaska from the North Slope to the southern coast.

Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., chairman of the conference committee, said the bill probably will reach the House floor for a final vote in about two weeks. The House and Senate must approve or disapprove it as written. It cannot be amended.

In last-minute action, the conferees approved a plan making each oil company using the pipeline liable for $14 million in damages from marine oil spills. The firms will pay one to five cents per barrel into a pool for additional liability up to '$100

In another final vote, the conferees approved an amendment requiring the Federal Trade Commission to consult with the Justice Department before bringing any court action. If the department does not act within 10 days, the commission will be free to take legal action on its own. Under present law, the commission must rely on the department to initiate court

An earlier proposal for the government to insure the liability pool until the fund reached $100 million was scrapped.
